

Procedure for RECORDsplice tool registration

Note the serial number and key number of your tool.

This can be found at the bottom of the tool.

Go to www.recordsplice.com and select Service center.

Click Tool registration in the left column.

You will require your E-mail address and a login password. If not yet registered, you will be asked to do so. This is only required once.

With your password you can log into the registration process of the tool.

Fill in your E-mail and password.

Fill in the contact details of the final user or customer, this is the billing and shipping address of the tool sent. If you have registered tools for this customer in the past, his contact details will be available and shown on the screen. Just select his name before going to the next step.

Fill in the shipping date.

Fill in the serial and key number of the tool. If you want or need to register more tools, you can add those numbers without having to fill in all the previous contact details again. You will receive by return E-mail a pdf registration confirmation from the service center.

As from then, the warranty has been activated.

Please remember that every tool needs registration at the time of shipment to the final user. If not sent directly from the Tyco Kessel-Lo premises to your final customer, you, as a Tyco local country employee or as a distributor will have to register. Failing to do so will result in extra costs at your account in case of eventual repair of the tool.

Thank you for your cooperation
